CHAPTER 1:

"An Introduction to the Shaver Mystery Conspiracy" PART I

MARCH 1945! A month that will live forever in the minds of thousands of veteran students of science-fiction, UFOlogy, metaphysics, and even conspiracy.

Why is this? Because, that was the month when millions of people became aware of a man by the name of Richard S. Shaver. Shaver, they soon learned, would go on to promote one of the most controversial theories ever to hit the newsstands.

Sometime during the early part of 1945, Raymond A. Palmer, the one man responsible more than any other person for making the term "Flying Saucers" a household phrase, received a package in the mail from a man in Arkansas. In that package was a manuscript written by one Richard S. Shaver, titled A WARNING TO FUTURE MAN. Although Shaver sent his manuscript to the editor of a science-fiction magazine, namely AMAZING STORIES (which is still going strong today), he claimed the contents of the manuscript were in part, based on facts, even personal experience!

What were the contents of that manuscript? They were "revelations" of such a nature that most people would probably discard them as the ravings of a madman. But, were they really? Whether you believe anything Shaver wrote or not, his story was still interesting enough to cause a sensation so large that AMAZING STORIES devoted a great deal of its space to this "Shaver Mystery" in every issue for a period of nearly five years! This phenomenon eventually gave birth to whole publications devoted entirely to the investigation of the mystery, such as MYSTIC (now SEARCH MAGAZINE, which is still going strong - P.O. Box 296, Amherst, WI. 54406 -- it also delves much into metaphysics, conspiracy, and relative subjects); THE HIDDEN WORLD, a series of 16 "subscription books" published from the Spring of 1961 through the Winter of 1964; THE SHAVER MYSTERY MAGAZINE & THE SHAVER MYSTERY LETTERZINE, both of which are now out-of-print (back issues are available through SHAVERTRON MAGAZINE, "The Only Source of Post-Deluge Shaverania", according to one of its earlier letterheads, at P.O. Box 248, Vallejo, CA. 94590); several "club" newsletters which appeared and later disappeared, and a score of books written by Shaver and others on the subject. Most of Shaver's information appeared within the disguise of "science-fiction", and his stories were remarkable for their predictions of several discoveries, including the atomic bomb, the radiation-aging discovery, the appearance of Flying Saucers, scientific discoveries, etc. For instance, on one occasion Shaver described a machine to a marine electrician, a complicated description of one of the machines he apparently "knew about". This electrician described this device to a friend of his in the Navy, at New Orleans. The Navy man was amazed, as the electrician (his name was John) was describing some thing near identical to a top secret sonar device the Navy was working on at the time. There are many other cases like this which seem to confirm at least part of Shaver's stories.

Although the Shaver Mystery is very complex, and involves many far-reaching and intricate aspects, it was in a nutshell basically, something like this:

Ages ago, in the early history of this world, long before the venus-like canopy of clouds, or water vapor, fell to earth as water (an event which was the result of a large planetoid passing too near the earth), causing the Biblical deluge, there existed an ancient civilization called Lemuria, MU, or Pan. On this ancient continent, which long ago disappeared beneath the surface of the Pacific Ocean leaving little more than the scattered traces like Easter Island as mute evidence of it's forgotten existence, there lived a race of men, very large in stature, some would even call them "giants", but Shaver called them "Titans". It was the "Titans" who were the actual source of the ancient Greek legends of the Gods of Olympus. Some translations of the Bible call them "Nephilim" (See Genesis 6:4).

The Titans, who were an advanced race, both scientifically and intellectually, discovered that old SOL began giving off entirely too much radiation for their own good. And the later loss of the planetary canopy, which acted as a shield from some of the harmful radiations, only complicated the problem. This condition of our Solar body caused a dramatic rise in the mortality rate all over the earth as the radiation-induced diseases began to spread through men's bodies and minds, causing an overall decrease in the average lifespan and an increase in violent tendencies on the part of humanity. In part, due to this, the Titans moved their civilization deep into the interior of the earth, where the hundreds of feet or even miles of solid rock protected them from most of the harmful rays of SOL. Meanwhile, on the surface, mankind began to degenerate from his relatively higher estate, and the long lifespans enjoyed by centurians like Methuselah and his people were no more.

The Titans, meanwhile, with their highly advanced scientific know-how, built over the centuries an entire network of subterranean cities. They lived in these cities, and at the same time developed the ability of space travel, and sent out explorers to other planets in order to attempt to discover a world (and a star) better suited to their needs. Eventually, their search paid off and before long a great migration of Titans was underway towards the stars. Most of the Titans departed from the earth, still, a few chose to remain. These now-mostly deserted cities were eventually discovered by "human" races on the surface (which Shaver called the "abandondero" or "abandoned ones"), and they then took control of them and the fantastic, and almost incomprehensible machines and devices which the Titans left behind in their cities. As the centuries passed, these humans-turned troglodyte mutated into two basic groups. One group Shaver called the "Tero's", retained their relatively "pure" genetic state. But the others, whom he called the "Dero's", degenerated, probably due to inbreeding and their dark, dank subterranean environment, into a sub-human half-animal, or degenerated life-form. Some "Dero's" kept their relatively "human" appearance, but degenerated morally and ethically. Some of the more frightening types have had frequent encounters with the surface world from which they would often kidnap people and raid supplies. The legends which grew out of these raids exist today in the myths and tales of trolls, and other strange creatures from the "underworld".

According to Shaver, "Dero's" and "Tero's" are generalized descriptions of a very diversified state of affairs in the "underworld", and that the same diversity of types of human beings exists in the underworld in the same way that it does on the surface. Because of the vast extent of the Titan cities, which exist beneath all parts of the world, the inhabitants of these caverns range from one extreme to the other. From extremely degenerate to extremely cultured, intelligent and benign. Some of the inhabitants of the inner planes visit the surface often, and can pass themselves off as a typical "citizen". They go about their own activities in secret, be they good or evil, and keep a rather low profile. Other inhabitants of the underworld do not "fit" into society so easily, a good example would be those we call Bigfoot, Sasquatch, Yeti, etc. These creatures have very often been sighted in connection with caves, or even by cave explorers. Nearly every country and culture on earth has some form of myth or tradition of an "underworld", and of "heros" or even whole tribes which have traveled to and from the abyssal regions. Many of these agree with each other remarkably. The Christians have their "caverns of hell" inhabited by vile demons, the Greeks their "Hades" inhabited by the same. The British isles have all kinds of myths and legends of elves, trolls, gnomes, and the like who inhabit subterranean recesses, the Indians their "Sipapu", in fact, the ethnology and anthropology books are literally full of myths and legends recorded by tribes throughout the world which tell of strange dwellers, either good or evil, in the "world below".

H.G.Wells, in his book THE TIME MACHINE, wrote of a division of humanity (and subsequent mutations) which takes place in the distant future, of a subterranean race of degenerate beings called the Morlocks, and a gentle race of submissive humans called the Eloi who live on the surface. Shaver talked of this same division, but according to him, it did not take place in the distant future, but in the distant past!

Ray Palmer, after reading Shaver's WARNING TO FUTURE MAN, knew that he had something! With an editorial re-write he expanded the original manuscript in the form of science-fiction in order to make it more "readable" to his science-fiction fans. He felt that the story, which he re-titled I REMEMBER LEMURIA, would go over nicely. On a "hunch", he borrowed several thousand pounds of paper from the other Ziff-Davis pulp magazines like MAMMOTH DETECTIVE and others, in order to print up an additional 50,000 copies of the March, 1945 issue of AMAZING STORIES (which sold over the newsstands) containing the Shaver-Palmer work, I REMEMBER LEMURIA. To his surprise, every single issue of his March, 1945 A.S. was sold! To his greater surprise, he later received not thousands, but tens of thousands of letters from readers all commenting on the Shaver story. Many of these letters confirmed Shaver's startling claims, and many of these reported experiences of their own concerning this race of evil subterranean dwellers who are trying to control those on the surface via mind control in an attempt to not only reclaim the surface, but other parts of the cavern world as well. The Rosicrucian writer, E. Bulwer Lytton, author of THE LAST DAYS OF POMPEII, also referred to an imminent "invasion" of the surface by a subterranean race of supermen, in his book THE COMING RACE. This book so influenced Hitler that he had his occult experts form THE LUMINOUS LODGE OF THE VRIL SOCIETY, so that members of the Third Reich could strive to become the equals, not the slaves, of this underground race when they finally chose to re-possess the surface of the planet. Another individual who warned of a possible invasion by an underground race was the famous oceanographer William Beebe (who later disappeared under mysterious circumstances). So, was Shaver, as well as the thousands of readers who confirmed his story, merely suffering from paranoid delusions? Or was he (and those readers who confirmed his story) really onto something?

How does Shaver's information stack up to modern-day knowledge of the possibility of ancient civilizations, as well as the possibility of the interior of this planet being inhabited by humanoid cavern-dwellers? Take note of the following:

--Hundreds, if not thousands of books have been written on the subject of "Lost Continents". Many of these give evidence in favor of the existence of such a continent or continents, much of this evidence is difficult, if not impossible to dispute.

--Thousands of artifacts have been discovered around the world which prove that some ancient races were as advanced (if not more-so) scientifically as our present civilization (and our civilization has existed for only a blink of an eye in comparison to the over-all age of the earth - think of all the time there has been in the history of the earth...more than enough for a thousand civilizations like ours to rise and eventually fall to ruin, either self-destructive or naturally induced ruin). Many of these artifacts hit the newspapers shortly after their discovery, and very rarely is any mention of them made after that.

--Research Associates (164 Coleman Ave. Elmira, NY 14905), is an organization which researches various claims and reports on ancient civilizations, and the artifacts and other evidence which support these claims. In a report describing government suppression of this type of data, Research Associates stated the following: "Suppression of such a discovery would not be unusual since we have learned that such coverups are commonplace in every instance where evidence has been uncovered which is contrary to the Smithsonian's "official" version of American history. If the discovery indicates the existence of a pre-Columbian "civilization", every attempt is made to discredit the reports. Scientists and Academics have been threatened with economic reprisals, and at least in one case, a small New England college was threatened with loss of Federal financial support after sponsoring a widely-attended conference exploring "Druid megaliths in New England." Why would the establishment be so intent on keeping the existence of these ancient civilizations from the public? Unless they know something we don't!!!

Shaver's basic theory centers around the unconventional idea that there may be civilizations beneath the surface of this planet as yet undiscovered. This theory, when you think of it, is no more remarkable than the theory of life on other planets. Now if in fact advanced races did live on the earth in ancient times, it's only logical to assume that some of them would have taken refuge in the planet's interior to escape the dangers which exist in the upper world (solar radiations, weather extremes, earth upheavals, violence, etc.). Our own civilization is slowly moving underground (earth-sheltered housing is becoming more popular every day, and fear of nuclear war is driving others to take cover underground), and scientists predict that within the next century or two mankind will have established "safe" cities beneath the surface, connected by tunnels, and totally self-sufficient. As underground housing becomes more popular every day, this eventual movement underground is becoming a reality (for various reasons, which include solutions to overcrowding, energy savings, natural and man-made disasters, and the like). Scientists predict that instead of building the cities upward (skyscrapers), they will begin building downwards (subscrapers, or subterranean living areas.). Even now, plans are being made to build a subterranean transportation network, which will begin with a vacu-tube shuttle which will travel from New York to Los Angeles in under an hour!!!

SINISTER SECRET SOCIETIES

BY INQUIRE WITHIN

(FROM THE PATRIOT - September 13, 1949)

In his "Philosophy of Fire" Dr. Clymer, Rosicrucian and head of the Philosophical Publishing Co., Penn., U.S.A. explains the secret force from which such sinister movements derive much of their unseen power: -- "There is in nature one most potent force by means of which a single person, who would possess himself of it, and know how to direct it, could revolutionise and change the whole face of the world. This force was known to the ancients and the secret is possessed by the secret schools of the present day. It is a universal agent whose supreme law is equilibrium; and whereby, if science can but learn how to control it, it will be possible to send a thought in an instant around the world; to slay or heal at a distance; to give our words universal success, and to make them reverberate everywhere."

This is the life-principle, the electro-magnetic ether, the serpent devouring its own tail. The Sunday Dispatch, 12 August, had an interesting article by Clement Yorke on the Black Dragon Society, the power behind the Mikado, the secret rulers of Japan. He tells us that Mitsuru Toyama, an old man of 84, with the shrewdest brain in Japan, was, and possibly still is, "the mystic leader of the world's most powerful secret society, the Black Dragon." For long years he had been the strongest man in Japan, stronger than the admirals and generals, a man whose whisper even influenced the Mikado himself.

(EDITOR: In the early part of this century and during the Russo-Japanese War of 1904, the Black Dragons worked with the Jewish revolutionaries in Russia. This alliance appears to have terminated, however, by the time of the 1917 revolution. The Black Dragons also had ties with Chinese guerrillas, Muslim secret societies, Indian terrorists, and Filipino agitators. See "Kempei Tai: A History of the Japanese Secret Service" by Richard Deacon.)

"For him the news (of August 1939) meant the making of new more far-reaching plans than ever before in either the history of his society or of Japan...Toyama pulled the strings, and things began to happen. They went on happening right until that December day when Japanese bombers screamed down over Pearl Harbor and Japanese troops swept down through Malaya to Singapore."

"The society is centuries old. It has tentacles reaching not merely throughout Japan and the whole of the Far East... Its agents have worked in New York, in London, in Moscow and other capitals... Its tenets are Japanese advancement as a world power by any means, fair or foul... It stands for the old rule by admirals and generals under the direct and unquestioned absolutism of the Mikado's sovereignty."

Therefore, Clement Yorke emphasises: -- "That the Mikado should remain Japan's ruler in the event of surrender has all the hallmarks of Black Dragon policy. It is imperative that the Allies should ensure that, whether the Mikado stays or goes, the men of the Black Dragon Society are rooted out."

And what of similar seditious sects in China? In Les Societe Secretes en Chine, 1933, Lieut.-Colonel Favre showed the antiquity of these Chinese secret societies and how their methods and organizations are in many ways similar to those in Europe and elsewhere, and, above all, how their influence was manifested during the revolts of the eighteenth and nineteenth centuries. Under the cloak of religion and magic these societies were intensely political, and, as Colonel Favre says, the secret veils their work, and a complicated ritual, magical and religious practices and ceremonies of initiation create among members, bound by an oath, the necessary atmosphere to awaken great enthusiasm. "To lead the people is to place the passions at the service of an idea." Is that not the basis of all modern "isms" East or West? In China, these political secret societies rest chiefly on Taoism and Confucianism, and family and clan idea is utilised to bind members together,

One of the most ancient was the Lotus Society, dating back to the fourth century. It may have received its gods from Syria and Persia. Later, as the Lotus Blanc, it was a religion of love and pity which conquered China and Japan. Again, under the name "Association of the Lotus Blanc", it ceased to be a religious brotherhood, and in the fourteenth century, still Buddhist, it became above all Messianic; like the modern Theosophists, it announced the incarnation of Maitreya, the future Buddha. They were also tainted like several of our Western "isms", with Manicheism, a form of Illuminism, described as an uncompromising system of dualism in the form of a fantastic philosophy of nature entirely materialistic. Further, the Lotus Blanc, having co-operated in the fall of the Yuan and Ming dynasties, had to assist in the overthrow of the Tsing. During the nineteenth century the affiliations of the Lotus Blanc exercised considerable influence over historical events in China, and to-day they still exist. The Chinese believed in occultism and magic. To-day this spirit of revolution under the disguise of religion and magic can be found in Europe and America in Rosicrucianism, Illuminism, Martinism, Cabalism, Theosophy and Anthroposophy. As de Poncin says: -- "Occultism has more important repercussions than one thinks. A wave of occultism preceded and accompanied the two great revolutionary movements of 1789 and 1917. The Theosophists and Illumines of the eighteenth century, Jacob Boehme, Emmanuel Swedenborg, Martinez de Pasqualis, Cagliostro, the Comte de Saint-Germain, etc., had their counterparts in the numerous Russian sects and in the magi and occultists of the Imperial Court -- Philippe, Papus, the Tibetan Badmaev, and above all, Rasputin, whose extraordinary influence contributed directly to the unchaining of the revolution."

Looking back over history, it therefore seems evident that the spread of secret societies has always been a sure precursor of revolutions and the fall of crowns. Instruments of the "Hidden Hand", they eventually led to the downfall of Russia, and through death and destruction initiated the Jew-led Soviet rule, with its dream of World Revolution and World Domination, the dream of Illuminised Grand Orient Masonry.

REAGAN, BITBURG AND THE NAZIS

BY JOHN JUDGE

President Reagan's planned visit to the Bitburg Cemetery in Germany on May 5 surprised and angered many Americans. Most have felt the decision was a combination of ignorance, bad planning, diplomatic necessity, and refusal to change on the part of both German Chancellor Kohl and President Reagan. However, a full history of U.S./Nazi relations, Ronald Reagan's political career, and current White House appointments suggest it may be more than "unfortunate coincidences" that have led Reagan to the unsupportable position of honoring the Nazi SS so openly.

THE U.S. FASCIST CONNECTION

1943 - U.S. Office of Special Services (OSS) agents Allen Dulles, William Casey, "Wild Bill" Donovan and others cut deals for post-war cooperation of military and intelligence networks with SS Karl Wolff, SS Walter Schellenberg, General Reinhard Gehlen, Klaus Barbie and other Nazi criminals.

1943 - Nazi defeat at Stalingrad marks turning point of the war, 20 million Russian dead, 80 million total, Allied and Axis agents agree communism is the real enemy.

1944 - SS Sturmbahnführer Werner von Braun, General Walter Dohrnberger and the Nazi "Rocket Teams" are contacted to come to the U.S., Operation Overcast.

1944 - Hitler's advisor, SS Baron Ernst von Weizsacker proposes a final Nazi offensive at the Battle of the Bulge, a delaying action that allows Nazi gold, spies, documents, scientists and SS criminals to escape Germany as pre-arranged with OSS. Total Allied troops lost - 80,000.

12/17/44 - First SS Panzer Division led by Waffen SS Otto Skorzeny, Sepp Dietrich, and Gen. Fritz Gustav Anton Kraemer, wearing U.S. uniforms, massacres GI's at Malmedy.

1944-45 - 2nd and 10th Panzer units wage battle at Bitburg, led by infamous SS

Galecian Division (collected Ukrainian victims for Auschwitz) Waffen SS commander Gen. Pavlo Shandruk and Gerd von Runstead.

1945-46 - Only a tiny percentage of the 70,000 Nazi war criminals face trial and prosecution at Nuremburg and Dachau, 8 are executed. John J. Mc Cloy, Allied Commander, eventually parsons almost all.

Colonel Otto Skorzeny.

1946 - Henry Kissinger, Gen. Lucius Clay, John McCloy, SS Gen. Fritz Kraemer, SS Gen. Franz Six, Klaus Barbie at Oberammergau form and train 5,000 German Nazis, U.S. Troops, and Eastern European fascists as "Special Forces Against Communism". These become our Special Forces in the U.S. -- The Green Berets.

1945-47 - U.S. Generals Patton and McArthur surround themselves with top Nazi SS criminals to gather military intelligence, write history of WW2, and hide critical information. McArthur's intelligence chief, Col. Charles Willoughby, who hid Japanese germ warfare tests on U.S. troops to gain secrets, was actually Nazi Kurt Weidenbach. Nazi and U.S. Intelligence begin plans for Cold War propaganda and WW3 to destroy the Soviet Union.

1945-48 - U.S. Army 970th Counter Intelligence Corps, OSS (later CIA), and top Vatican figures (Knights of Malta) set up the "Rat Line", moving Nazi's worldwide under false passports, employing Nazis in the emerging Cold War. Operation Bernhard moves the gold to S. America, prints forged currency. Odessa (SS), Die Spinne, and Kameradenwerk networks hide Nazi's in Germany and abroad. Project Paperclip, Belarus, and other plans bring Nazi's, European revanchists, and White Russian fascists to the U.S. Mussolini's fascists form secret police in Italy.

1946-51 - Nazi's help form CIA operations division (Gehlen Organization), German BND, Radio Liberty, Voice of America, aerospace and munitions industry, NASA, U.S. Army Historical Division, top Pentagon posts. SS criminals immune, well paid.

1945 -present - New emerging fascist networks forms internationally. Secret P2 fascist cell in Italy, involving key Vatican and government members. Knights of Malta awards given to Donovan, Gehlen, Casey and others by Pope Pius XII. World Anti-Communist League formed, including Waffen SS, neo-Nazi's, Solidarists, mercenaries and death squads, and the World Union of National Socialists.

1979 - Truth begins to emerge, Justice Department sets up Office of Special Investigations to locate a few fascists here Forty Years too late. Six cases to date.

THE SECRET HISTORY OF RONALD REAGAN

1940's - Reagan makes films in Hollywood during WW2 with actor Errol Flynn. Flynn working as an agent of Gestapo, under direction of SS Dr. Hermann Erban. Flynn and Reagan visit Erban and Nazi sympathizers Duke & Duchess of Windsor in Bahamas. U.S. Army and OSS use Reagan in training films, stateside for WW2. Reagan links to Richard Nixon, part of Navy Intelligence cooperation with Odessa schemes.

1950's - Regan gains national prominence from TV, working for General Electric. GE President Charles Wilson part of "permanent war economy", Cold War. GE employs Robert Schmitz, whose uncle Herman Schmitz headed Nazi drug and spy cartel I.G.Farben in Germany, worked with SS Otto Skorzeny, Hitler's commando. Reagan joins Free Europe Committee, headed by revanchists and Nazi's.

1953 - Adolph Eichmann's superior in the Einsatzgruppen, Otto Albrecht von Bolschwing comes to U.S., followed by Austrian Helene von Damm, who works as his personal translator and forms CIA front corporation in California, TCI. Von Bolschwing heads CIA Gehlen Organization in U.S. while Gehlen sets up BND spies in Germany.

1960's - Helene von Damm becomes personal secretary to Ronald Reagan in California.

1970's - Reagan sits on Rockefeller Commission studying CIA, aids cover-up of past Nazi links, current crimes. Netherland's Prince Bernhard, Operation Bernhard, invites Reagan to attend Bilderberg group, international financial cartel. As Gov. Reagan, carries out fascist politics in California, domestic repression, social welfare cuts, etc. Assisted by Ed Meese (Garden Plot) and Lyn Nofziger (Nazi Party California). Begins anti-communist campaigns for Presidency, pushing WW3 with USSR.

1980's - Presidential election relies in theft of Carter "briefing books" by Reagan advisor Sven Kraemer (son of Fritz A.G.Kraemer). Close political connections to fascism begin to be visible. Reagan appointees link closely to P2 Italian fascists in NATO. Reagan expands U.S. Special Forces for use abroad. American GI's invade Grenada dressed in 1943 Nazi Wehrmacht uniforms and helmets (camouflage color). Reagan lies to foreign leaders about making "films" of Nazi concentration camps, and showing them to "Jewish friends who don't believe there was a Holocaust". Administration works against deportation of Nazi criminals from U.S., blocking attempts to send them to justice. At the start of the Justice Dept. search, Reagan returned files with the names of 10.7 million Nazi Party members (including 660,000 SS, 400,00 Storm-troopers, Special Police) to W. Germany where prosecutions have ended. Puts documents outside FOIA reach for Nazi hunters here. Nazi war criminals discovered here are treated with "kid gloves": Otto von Bolschwing - deportation delayed from 1970's until death in U.S.

Valerian Trifa - Rumanian Iron Guard, extradited to Portugal not Rumanian courts. Andrija Artukovic - Croatia Ustachi, 750,000 dead, delay since 1953 on extradition, daily personal care costs $30,000 to U.S.

Arthur Rudolph - Dora concentration camp, NASA, allowed to leave for W.Germany, renounce citizenship and disappear before case made public here. Other NASA scientists want citizenship restored for Rudolph, in the "spirit of Bitburg".

REAGAN'S APPOINTMENTS & INVITATIONS Friends & Advisors

Licio Gelli (P2, Vatican) - invited to attend Reagan's inauguration, 1981.
Sven Kraemer (Cartergate, Fritz Kraemer) - National Security Council.
Henry Kissinger (Rat Line, SS Walter Rauff) - Special Commission on Central America.

J.Peter Grace (Knights of Malta, SS Friedrich Flick, I.G.Farben chemist Otto Ambrose) - Private Sector Survey on Cost Control in Federal Government.

John J.McCloy (Nazi pardons, Kissinger) - White House ceremony for German honors.
Robert Keith Gray (CIA, SS in Argentina) -

Reagan inauguration committee.

Gen. John Singlaub (WACL, death squad funds, Col. Willoughby - Pentagon advisor.

Government Posts & Ambassadors:

William Casey (Rat Line, SS Karl Wolff) - CIA director.

Harry Slattermann (really Nazi Schlaudermann, CIA, Chile, Guatemala) - Kissinger Commission.

William Clark (brought von Damm to U.S.) - National Security Council Secretary.

Helene von Damm (SS Otto von Bolschwing) - White House Secretary, Amb. to Austria.

William A. Wilson (Reagan's financial advisor, CIA) - first U.S. Amb. to Vatican.
Leon Jaworski (Nuremberg, Rat Line, CIA) - Democrats for Reagan.

Gen. Albert Wedemeyer (Nazi General Staff, Pentagon Plans Div.) - Reagan advisor.

Dr. Loyal Davis (Gen.McArthur, Col. Willoughby) - Nancy Reagan's stepfather.

Gen. Vernon Walters (Knights of Malta, CIA) - "roving ambassador" ; UN post.

Fritz A.G.Kraemer (SS, RAT LINE, Pentagon) - SDI (Star Wars) advisory panel.

Gen. Heine C. Anderholt (Gen. Singlaub, Knights of Malta) - Pentagon advisor.

Waffen SS Jacob Tiefertaler (Hitler diary scam, $5 mil. to SS) - U.S. Army Germany. Many other appointments from the Knights of Malta at Cabinet level.

THE BITBURG VISIT

Reagan's staff, pictured as blundering into Bitburg, actually made a thorough check to determine if SS involved in the Malmedy Massacre were buried there. Reagan claims helplessness and shifts diplomatic blame to Chancellor Helmut Kohl. Kohl's administration has just weathered a major scandal of illegal campaign funding from the Nazi Flick Group, financiers of Hitler investors in W.R.Grace Co. German President Richard von Weizsacker, a lawyer in the Nazi years, defended his father, SS Baron Ernst von Weizsacker, Hitler's personal envoy to the Vatican (and the Rat Line), at Nuremberg. Defense costs were paid from a $46 million fund set up by SS criminal Flick. Neither Kohl nor von Weizsacker has done anything to interfere with plans for a reunion of 500 Waffen SS members during Reagan's visit. In fact, Kohl has appointed a former Waffen SS member Walter Florian to the Ministry of Food and Agriculture, a cabinet post, in the last few weeks. These are the German's Reagan can't refuse.

To complete the cycle, Reagan's Ambassador to the Bahamas, scene of his earlier meetings with the SS, is a WACL member, Lev Dobriansky, editor of the neo-

Nazi Ukranian Quarterly, which recently eulogized SS Gen. Pavlo Shandruk, creator of the dreaded Waffen SS Galecian Division attached to Auschwitz, and commander of the SS Panzer forces against U.S. troops at Bitburg. Perhaps this historical entwinement explains why even the President of the U.S. is reduced to "just following orders".

CONSPIRACY NOTES

(1) "FATAL VISION" PARALLEL. (From the New York Daily News, 5/15/85.) Fayetteville, N.C. (UPI)--Authorities said they had a lead yesterday in the murder of an Air Force captain's wife and two children and tried to play down comparisons to the sensational MacDonald murders 15 years ago. The bodies of Catherine Eastburn, 32, and daughters Kara, 5, and Erin, 3, were found on Mother's Day with their throats cut in their suburban home near Pope Air Force Base -- less than five miles from where former Green Beret Dr. Jeffrey MacDonald killed his wife and two daughters in 1970. (EDITOR: See CT #16 for info on this.) "We're getting a lot of questions about it (the similarity between the cases)," said Harold Little, a spokesman for the Cumberland County Sheriff's Department. "But we are treating it as a different case." Cumberland County Sheriff Ottis Jones said an "around-the-clock investigation" has been in effect since the bodies were found. He said investigators had a positive lead, but he would not elaborate. The three were killed last Thursday, while Capt. Gary Eastburn, 35, was at Officers Training at Maxwell Air Force Base in Alabama, officials said. The bodies were found after neighbors were alerted by the cries of the Eastburn's 18-month-old daughter, Jana. Eastburn's wife had been raped, and the throats of all three victims had been slashed. The slayings frightened residents in this military town, reviving memories of the MacDonald case, Little said. MacDonald, 41, is serving three consecutive life sentences for the Feb. 17, 1970 stabbing and beating murders of his pregnant wife, Colette, and daughters Kimberly 5, and Kristen, 2, at their home at nearby Fort Bragg. MacDonald said four intruders killed his family and attacked him, but lost his bid for a new trial last January.

(2) MAITREYA'S SIDEKICK. (From the Midnight Cry, June, 1985.) A spokesman for the Tara Center in New York was quoted as saying that another person is coming after "Lord Maitreya" (whom they call "The Christ" and who is identified as the "Solar Logos" of the New Age Movement). That second "person", "Jesus the Christ," it was said, would "ascend the throne of Peter and assume the leadership of the Christian Church on earth." (The throne of Peter refers to the Vatican and to the Papal office.) Maitreya is being called the "Christ" of the Christians, the "Messiah" of the Jews, the "Imam Mahdi" of the Moslems, the "Krishna" of the Hindus, and the "Lord Maitreya" of "Fifth Buddha" of the Buddhists. Since first hearing of this "Jesus, the Christ," it has been confirmed that he is also "now here," and that he is in a suburb of Rome awaiting his proper time, while "Lord Maitreya" is said to be among "the Asian community" in London. The New Age Movement is a gigantic global organization which embraces thousands of organizations and persons of great influence. It controls many "networks" of organizations, all of which are working together to bring in these two "persons" into world leadership. International affairs are not yet quite ripe for their takeover, for Russia (or the United States) has to be eliminated as a super world power. Russia's defeat will come as a surprise and an astonishment to the leadership of the New Age Movement because they appear to be counting heavily upon Russia and the United Nations to bring about their world government, and upon the conquest of America. It is becoming increasingly plain that the New Age Movement may indeed be the catalyst and coordinator of all of the concentric "ring" of the present conspiracy to form a one-world government. For example, it is now established by the research of Dr. Anthony C. Sutton that "The Order," a secret society of Yale University (otherwise known as "the Skull and Bone Society," or more properly, "The Society of Death"), is a branch of a German secret society which may yet prove to be the "Illuminati." In his four books on The Order, Dr. Sutton has established that the Order controls the Council on Foreign Relations (CFR) and the Trilateral Commission (TC), which in truth influence the Bilderberg Group. The Club of Rome appears to have been spawned by the German Marshall fund which, together with many other organizations are promoting the "Global 2000" concept, a program which the New Age Movement is also promoting, and which calls for reducing the world's population to two and a half billion by the year 2000. This means killing over two billion people within less than 15 years. Thus, from the formation of the Illuminati on May 1, 1776, to the present day, the movement toward a godless, one-world government has steadily developed. (3) OPEN LETTER. We have received some interesting letters from a gentleman in Texas who has a public file on "The Order" a.k.a. Skull & Bones. This file is available (not in book form) as a collection of photocopies of correspondence and documents. It is available for $10.00 from: Richard Landkamer - 3805 Sherwood Lane - Apt. 21 - Houston, Texas 77092. We now print a letter which Mr. Landkamer wrote to Skull & Bones member, William F. Buckley, Jr. May 17, 1985. Dear Mr. Buckley, As of this date, I have not received any reply regarding my previous letter to you of March 26, 1985, a photocopy of which I enclose for your instant reference. I've been doing some research into your background, and I recently came across an old out of print (I think) pamphlet published several years ago by Lyndon H. LaRouche's organization. This pamphlet is entitled "The Buckley Family --Wall Street Fabians in the Conservative Movement" -- and was reprinted from Executive Intelligence Review with an undated copyright by Campaigner Publications. The author of this "12,000-word expose of the Buckley family's operation" was security specialist Scott Thompson. Executive Intelligence Review and Campaigner Publications are, of course, part of Lyndon H. LaRouche's organization. I doubt if any of Lyndon LaRouche's organizations still sell this amazing pamphlet, but copies have recently been advertised at $5.00 each from A-Albion Consulting and Research, P.O. Box 20273, Ferndale, Michigan 48220. Unfortunately, anything published by Lyndon LaRouche can hardly be regarded as a reliable source of information. Indeed, I scarcely know what to believe of what I read in New Solidarity these days. In any event, the following startling allegations are quoted from page 11 of this pamphlet: "As Kennedy's popularity reached its nadir following the 1962 Cuban Missile Crisis, involvement of the U.S. in a 'limited conflict' in Vietnam, and a 'left' feint with the nuclear test ban treaty, the Buckleys' 'dirty tricks' crew was called out to rig a dummy assassination of the President with full knowledge of Attorney General Robert Kennedy and Wall Street insiders on the National Security Council. (4) Apart from the sympathy this operation was intended to win for the President, multiple U.S. intelligence sources have confirmed that the dummy hit was intended to provide cover for a new U.S. invasion of Cuba and a showdown with the Soviets at precisely the moment they were being lulled by Test Ban Treaty negotiations. Minutemen, Klan and Nazi units led by Buckleyite agents were to be unleashed for a wave of domestic assassinations which, coupled with IPS 'leftist' terrorist countermeasures, were to provide Kennedy an excuse to impose a monetarist dictatorship. It remains unclear to this day who intervened into the dummy assassination set-up and turned it into the real thing." Even more astounding allegations, are contained in footnote (4) on page 13: "4) Field coordination for the dummy assassination appears to have been carried out by two of William Buckley's top operatives, E. Howard Hunt, and George DeMohrenschildt. Hunt is a close personal friend of the Buckley family, while DeMohrenschildt, who was recently murdered before he could testify on his role in the assassination, was a product of those Rothschild-Rockefeller White Russian networks of which the Buckleys have become leaders. DeMohrenschildt's father headed Standard Oil's subsidiary in pre-Revolutionary Russia. He himself worked for Nelson Rockefeller, then Coordinator of Inter-American Affairs, during World War 2. Later, he joined the Buckleys' Pantepec oil firm in Venezuela which was integrated into Standard Oil's massive private intelligence operations in the Caribbean. When he left Pantepec, he developed several joint ventures with Schlumberger Corp., which was represented by the Buckley's law firm, Coudert Brothers, and which also had a record of dirty tricks involvement with the Bay of Pigs and other operations. It was DeMohrenschildt who introduced Lee Harvey Oswald to Ruth Paine, the immediate controller of Mariana and Lee Harvey Oswald at the time of the assassination, as soon as he returned from the Soviet Union. It was also DeMohrenschildt who introduced Oswald to Hunt lieutenant Guy Bannister, whose New Orleans 'Minuteman-Cuban exile' network handled Oswald's further laundering as a 'leftist' through the Fair Play for Cuba Committee, fights with well-known 'Gusanos,' etc. Other Buckleyite agents involved in the Kennedy assassination include Ken Duggan, who was murdered in prison after he broke with Buckley and sought to expose his hard core 'right wing' agents. Duggan helped set up numerous back-up teams for the Buckleys that could be used under Minuteman or 'leftist' cover." With regard to your further alleged involvement with Nixon Watergate burglar E. Howard Hunt, the following allegations are quoted from page 5 of the above cited pamphlet: "In 1950-52 at least three of the Buckley children --William F. F. Reid, and Priscilla -- followed directly in their fathers tracks to receive training for the future direction of their Rockefeller satrapy as employees of the Central Intelligence Agency (CIA).

Referring to William F. Buckley's recruitment, E.Howard Hunt -- one of the top Rockefeller covert action men who was involved in setting up a dummy assassination against President John F.Kennedy, and, later, was to head the Watergate dirty tricks operatives who sabotaged the Nixon administration's break with Wall Street -- recalled: 'When I got the CIA assignment to set up a CIA station in Mexico City (actually, the CIA Latin American Division HQ --ed), Bill was the first person I thought to bring in. He accepted immediately.' In fact, the decision was not so informal." At the time the above cited pamphlet was published, undoubtedly most people -- myself included -- would have considered the above allegations to have been beyond the realm of any reasonable possibility-credibility. After all, at that time there was no corroborating evidence that E.Howard Hunt had any involvement with the JFK Assassination. However, the recent shocking revelations that have come out as a result of E.Howard Hunt's unsuccessful libel suit against Liberty Lobby and The Spotlight tend to put this matter in a very different perspective. From what I've been reading in The Spotlight these past several weeks, I get the distinct impression that there is now hard evidence to implicate both E.Howard Hunt and the CIA in the operational planning and execution of the JFK Assassination. I never believed that Lee Harvey Oswald was the lone assassin of President John F. Kennedy and I'm not about to believe that a bunch of renegade CIA agents acting entirely on their own decided to assassinate the President of the United States. Mr. Buckley, are the above quoted allegations true? Were you in any way involved with E.Howard Hunt in plotting the assassination of President John F. Kennedy? Can you refute any of the above ~~allegations~~ charges/allegations? These are very serious charges, and if they are false, I submit that it is imperative that you refute them immediately. Otherwise, some "conspiracy buffs" might wonder if the JFK Assassination was actually a Skull and Bones operation -- for motives which are still unclear at least to me. Your fellow members of Skull and Bones --McGeorge Bundy, the late Henry Luce, and the late Senator John Sherman Cooper (a member of the Warren Commission) --were actually involved in covering up all evidence of any conspiracy in the JFK Assassination. But this is the first time I've read allegations that a prominent member of Skull and Bones was allegedly involved in plotting the assassination of President John F. Kennedy. So awaiting your reply to this very serious and urgent matter, I am, Very truly yours, Richard A. Landkamer.

(4) DRACULA. In 1408, King Sigismund of Hungary founded a Knightly Order called the Order of the Dragon. Their insignia was a double gold chain with a coiled dragon. In 1431, Vlad of Wallachia (now Rumania) was initiated into the Order. He was elevated to the crown of his small nation, but was regarded with suspicion by his subjects who considered his dragon insignia as a symbol of the Devil. In 1455, the Turks overran Wallachia -- and set Vlad's son up as ruler. Although his father was known for great cruelty, the son, Vlad IV, was even worse. The peasants referred to him as Dracul, which means

"Dragon" or "Devil". He became known as Vlad the Impaler because he impaled his enemies on stakes. He has come down to us in literature and films as Count Dracula.

(5) THE HOLY LANCE. (From the National Examiner, 11/29/83.) The Holy Spear of Longinus that pierced the side of Christ is in the hands of a fanatic band of Nazis. It's mystical powers, say investigators, are being used in an attempt to establish a Fourth Reich. Pilgrims and tourists who have flocked to the Hapsburg Treasure House in Vienna, Austria, for 38 years to view the religious artifact have been looking at a fake. The real holy spear was stolen by the Nazis in 1938, and a counterfeit was put in its place years later. A former British Commando officer, Trevor Ravenscroft, drew world attention to the mystic powers of the spear in his book, "The Spear of Destiny", in 1973. The crude lance, which Roman Centurian Longinus used to end Christ's suffering (EDITOR: Christ was already dead when the spear was thrust into his side. See the Gospel of John, chapter 19.) on the cross, supposedly has magical energies. It's said to have been used through the centuries to help win great victories for Charlemagne, Frederick Barbarossa, Napoleon and others. Hitler thought it would help him in his plan for world domination once he obtained possession of it and reputedly reversed the talisman's magical force to become the central object in a deadly black magic arsenal. Writing of its importance, Ravenscroft noted that an expert on Nazi Germany ... "advised Sir Winston Churchill that the Holy Lance and the Imperial Regalia might become symbols of an underground German resistance after the war." Concerned about the reports, Churchill ordered a special section of British intelligence to trace the spear and other relics, but he was already too late. The spear had already been smuggled to a secret Nazi hideaway located somewhere outside Germany. Now, according to a prominent Midwestern historian, the spear is back in Germany. "I've seen a photo of it, and know it to be in the hands of the Heilige Ritters," he told the EXAMINER. The Heilige Ritters (Holy Knights), he said, are a sinister international band of diehard fanatics determined to establish a new world Nazi regime. They are said to have smuggled the spear back into Germany in 1979. The whereabouts of the spear between 1945 and 1979 are vague, but another historian, Christof Freidrich, tells of a hidden Nazi base established in Antarctica. In his book "Germany's Antarctic Claim: Secret Nazi Polar Expeditions" (Samisdat Publishers, Ltd., Toronto), Freidrich revealed that Hitler sent a top secret expedition to Antarctica before the war -- and discovered a 300-mile wide, ice-free area. The Nazi expeditionary force claimed more than 400,000 square miles in the center of Antarctica's icy wastes, an area larger than Germany itself. Freidrich suggests it could have been the destination of a fleet of the latest, most sophisticated German submarines that left Norway in 1945 -- possibly carrying frightening new weapons and fleeing Nazi bigwigs. The Midwestern historian insists the submarines also carried the Spear of Longinus, plus other riches including a ring and handbag once owned by Marie Antoinette. He has seen, he says, pictures of the spear and a significant letter from Frau Magda Goebbels whose husband, Nazi Propaganda Minister Josef Goebbels, is believed to have masterminded replacement of the original spear with the bogus relic. British Military Intelligence is known to have tried during WW2 to capture the spear when they arranged for the assassination of Reinhard Heydrich, the second most powerful man in the dreaded SS. Heydrich, who possessed the spear at that time, died. But the Czechoslovakian partisans who killed him were unable to gain possession of the powerful talisman before they were hunted down and killed. British spymasters first learned of the importance and occult powers of the spear from psychics they recruited into a special unit during the war. Dr. Ernesto A. Montgomery, a Hollywood clairvoyant whose activities are regularly reported in the EXAMINER, was a prominent member of the special squad. The spear was reportedly allowed to rest in its icy hideaway 35 years until a set of mystical runes were translated in 1979 to provide instructions for invoking its terrible power. Now that the spear is back in Germany, world anti-Nazi organizations are fearful that its occult force will once again be used for evil intent -- and that the fanatical Nazi group will invoke its power to bring about world chaos. (EDITOR: A Nazi living here in America says that the Holy Lance was rescued from its ice cavern in Deutsche Antarctica on July 30, 1979. The Holy Lance is now hidden in Germany and guarded 24 hours a day by the Knights of the Holy Lance. The bogus lance was made in 1935 at around the same time that Himmler founded the Order of Blood and Circle of the Knights of the SS. Himmler's Knight would often meet for secret ceremonies in Wewelsburg Castle -- a meeting place used in past centuries by the Teutonic Knights. The Teutonic Knights had had contact with the Knights Templar who may have infected them with the Gnostic-Cabalistic poison. Himmler's meetings consisted of 13 members of the Order of Blood. The Nazi now living here in America says that a new leader will arise and form a 10 nation confederation. Germany (repository of the Holy Lance) will lead this alliance he says. This sounds curiously like the confederation of nations that students of Bible prophecy say will be headed by Anti-Christ. Will Anti-Christ possess the Holy Lance? The doctrines of the Knights of the Holy Lance often mention Christ as Lord and Saviour; but close examination shows them to be saturated with Gnostic-Dualism culminating in Cabalistic Pantheism, i.e. Universal Evolutionary Racial Illuminism -- Man becoming God -- the exact same doctrine held by the New Age Movement, the Cthulhu Cultists, and the Zionists. Is it coincidence that they all teach the same thing?
